Whenever the mind is stirred from a state of slumber
All that eludes the expansive nature of imagination
Slowly begins to manifest upon the physical plane.
The focused energies of the mind open to the unknown
So one may experience a heightened realm of sensation:
Venturing beyond the limits of the known world
To awaken the dormant potential seeking expression
Throughout a myriad of different styles and forms.
The animating energies of imagination unveil that
Which lies dormant within the deepest vaults of memory:
To experience these wonders for oneself, is to touch
Upon a mystery which eludes the eyes of those who sleep.